It is a pleasure to present to you this discussion regarding the pertinent developments that have been happening in the nursing field. Just as all of you I am a registered and practicing nurse and will be looking to address the several concerns that have been happening in the nursing industry. In the present day, the United States government has an additional inclination towards delivering a system that restructures the country's healthcare towards a new age of practice where there is quality guarantee (Fraher, Spetz, & Naylor, 2015). Without a doubt, the nursing practice is expected to develop as well as change in numerous varying ways. Nurses will go on to have a vital role in the explication of patient care as well as the application of modern technologies founded on the growth in the varying sectors of the economy. With the nation continuously focusing in the direction of restructuring of the United States health care delivery system, nurses will go on playing the primary role. With the increase of demand for nurses and acute care hospital get the gist of the developments, I will present the notions of continuity as well as accountable care organisations.

The advancement of nursing care has developed to involve both the prevention of disease along with the wellbeing of the patients. The congress made a regulation The Patient Protections and Affordable Care Act (ACA) which aimed at ensuring the healthcare was accessible to all (Barr, 2016). Additionally, the passed Act aimed at making quality healthcare was accessible to all Americans despite their race or any other alignments. According to Shi and Singh (2014), to ensure that nurses are also implementing the new Act, there is need that they are involved in continued learning. As a result, the training of nurses will be a continuing procedure where following qualifications in several fields; they can cross over to help doctors in several things.
